Important - after submitting your data by pressing the submit button at the very end of this form you must combine the application form and all other documents for the application in one pdf file (for tips on file size/scanning please see http://mundusjournalism.com/tl_files/downloadfiles/admissions/how2scan.pdf).

Please attach the PDF-file to an e-mail and send it to one of the following email addresses, depending on your first choice of specialism:

Business and Finance Reporting

At City University, London, UK

london.mundusjournalism@au.dk

War and Conflict

At Swansea University, UK

swansea.mundusjournalism@au.dk

Journalism and Media Across Cultures

At Universität Hamburg, Germany

hamburg.mundusjournalism@au.dk

Media and Politics

At University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands

amsterdam.mundusjournalism@au.dk

The name/title of the PDF file must be your full name and the application category (Category A, or Category B, or Self funded); for example: Hannah Maria Taylor - Category B.

Your PDF file MUST be arranged in this specific order to be considered- please check each box to show that you have included each of the documents:

1) Application form. Please fill in the application form, submit, print and sign.

2) Academic documents - University transcripts and diplomas/certificates. Completed and official graduation certificates and transcripts of all previous college or university studies must be submitted. All transcripts or academic records must be official documents provided in the original language. If that language is not English, they must also be accompanied by certified translations.

Applicants who are currently finishing a degree and haven't yet received an official university graduation certificate are required to submit an official transcript for all semesters completed to present. Such students must also provide Aarhus University with an official statement from their current university stating the expected date of graduation and degree to be awarded.

3) Journalistic documents

Proof of experience: In order to provide proof of your work as a professional journalist a current or previous employer needs to supply a signed document that states the employment period.

Work samples: Please submit three articles or other samples of your journalistic work, preferably in English. You can include Internet addresses instead if your work is available on the web. Do not submit more than three articles or equivalent. If your samples are not in English, please include a short English summary.

If your journalism work samples cannot be included in a PDF file (e.g. radio or TV samples on cd/dvd), please include detailed information on your samples. If needed the Mundus Consortium might ask you to forward these samples by postal mail.

4) Language documents. IELTS certificate or other documentation of language skills.

Applicants whose native language is not English must provide original test scores for the IELTS (academic) English language test. The minimum score required is 7.0. See the IELTS website at <http://www.ielts.org> for details of test centres.

Applicants who have studied for one or more years in, or received a degree from, a college or university in an English-speaking country do not need to present an English language test. In this case, an official certificate from the applicant's school/university is required to confirm that the medium of instruction is English.

- 5) Curriculum Vitae. Please provide us with a summary (max 2 pages) of your educational and professional work experience, listing any special achievements or qualifications, and/or possible publications. For guidance, you may use the template at <http://europass.cedefop.europa.eu/en/documents/curriculum-vitae/templates-instructions>.

- 6) Academic and journalistic reference letters. We require a minimum of two letters of recommendation. Preferably you should submit an academic reference, i. e. from a university official (e.g. dean, former professor, department head or faculty advisor) acquainted with your work, and one professional reference from a former employer.

- 7) Application essay

In order to learn more about you as a candidate, we'd like you to answer the following four questions. Though short, your answers will be evaluated not only on their content, but also on their writing style, quality, and clarity. Please include your answers to all four questions in one document, within your application packet.

1. Regarding your first-ranked specialism choice [either Business & Financial Journalism (London), War & Conflict (Swansea), Journalism & Media Across Cultures (Hamburg), or Media & Politics (Amsterdam)], how has your professional experience prepared you for this specialism? (200 words max)
2. How has your academic past prepared you for this specialism? (200 words max)
3. What do you hope to do in your future career, and how, concretely, do you think the program as a whole (both years 1 and 2) will help you achieve that goal? (200 words max)
4. Below are a few questions about the role and future of journalism and media in society. Please address one of the statements in a short essay (350 words max), in which you take a clear position and argue in support of it.
 - (a) What is the most important function of journalism in your country?
 - (b) What is the biggest threat to journalism in your country?
 - (c) How is technology changing the role of journalists in your country?
 - (d) What role should journalists and media professionals play in contemporary global issues, like the global economic crisis, international refugee crisis, or climate change? Please choose (only) one issue to discuss.

- 8) Documentation on your nationality/nationalities. We need copies of passport, citizenship documents, or other documentation of nationality. If you have double citizenship, please include documentation for both.

- 9) Additional information, e.g. on disabilities or special needs.
